Alliance Benefit Group™ Carolinas Client Featured on CBS Evening News

(Charlotte, NC) Alliance Benefit Group™ Carolinas, LLC, a full service third party retirement plan administration and recordkeeping firm, has always been proud of their dedication to full fee disclosure.

Now, Alliance Benefit Group™ Carolinas is proud of one of its clients. Located in Charlotte, North Carolina, McGee Brothers is the largest residential masonry company in the United States. Neal Parker is Chief Financial Officer and is responsible for the company 401(k) plan.

Mr. Parker was recently featured on a CBS Evening News story about 401(k) plan fees. Parker discussed his prior struggles to determine the fees he was paying in his plan. "It was very difficult to get clear and concise as to what those fees were," Parker stated to CBS Evening News.

When Mr. Parker made the decision that he was not satisfied with the fee disclosures he was receiving, he worked with his plan's financial advisor to transfer the plan to Alliance Benefit Group™ Carolinas for recordkeeping services, and TD Ameritrade for custodial services. This "unbundled" solution provided Mr. Parker the full fee disclosure he was seeking for his plan participants.

"If you got the full benefit of what you invested in, and the fees are reasonable, you can expect to get, I estimate, between 6 and 10 years' additional retirement funds," Parker stated to CBS Evening News.
